THANKSGIVING SEASON HAS ALL-SCHOOL BANQUET

"For All These" Is Banquet Theme; Dr. Ewell, Speaker

The Thanksgiving banquet, November 16, at 7:00 p.m. is one of the feature events of the year!

Dr. Cecil Ewell, pastor of our Nashville's First Church is the guest speaker. Others taking part on the program are: Larry Finger, Patsy Decker, Delores Brown, Carol Asbury, and master of ceremonies, Bob Seal.

"For All These" is the theme chosen by the Seniors. The table will be decorated with fall colors; the cornucopia, the emblem of abundance, and various other decorations with the Thanksgiving motif.

Emily Hamilton, chairman, Sammy Bell, Charles Cork, Bob Seal and Norma Jean Peters compose the planning committee of this year's banquet.

Tomato juice for appetizer, the traditional turkey, dressing, parsley potatoes, fruit salad, buttered rolls, cranberry sauce, iced tea, and pumpkin pie for dessert will make up the menu.

Along with sponsoring the Thanksgiving banquet, the seniors are planning an all-school communion for this Thanksgiving season.

Hardy Hall Missionary Chapter Organizes

The Hardy Hall Missionary Chapter met in the dormitory October 20. Rev. and Mrs. Claude Galloway from College Hill Church met with the girls as they organized the chapter. Nancy Sheridan was elected chairman and Wanda Miller, vice chairman. Louise Irwin will act as recording secretary, and Ann Clayton, corresponding secretary. Eleanor McCollough is the treasurer for the chapter.

Leona Groves has the responsibility of superintendent of study and Kathy Lanham as superintendent of publicity.

These girls will do the work in the missionary chapter here at home, but there is more work to be done. Other girls have been appointed to various responsibility. Kathy Eanottie will supervise the box work. Mobelle Partridge will take care of the membership. The prayer and fasting will be boosted by Glenda Cape and Barbara Campbell. The relief and retirement fund will be supervised by Geneva Hogan. Helen Casto will take care of the Indian fund.

Mary Nelson will see that the girls subscribe to The Other Sheep. Doris Scott is chairman of the Standard of Efficiency Committee. The vital part of medicine will be headed by Pat Losey. Helen Burch will act as chairman of the committee of National Workers, Education and Evangelism.

Shirley Bula will be in charge of Alabaster boxes. The Reading course chairman will be Edith Mingledorff. Miss Marie Peery is sponsor.

Automobile Decals Issued

The Student Council has issued the decals for the automobiles of T.N.C. students.

These Trevecca "license plates," which are required for all car owners, are very attractive with a red, white, and black color scheme.

Hemmerly Memorial Loan Fund Increases

"Flowers are very beautiful and life is enriched by them, but flowers no matter how beautiful will soon fade." Trevecca students and faculty considered this fact upon hearing of the death of Richard Dale Hemmerly, a former student, and decided to remember him with a perpetual loan fund. Tokens of regard were taken in chapel for this purpose and $455.00 were received including pledges. Friends of Dale are still sending in money which will increase the amount of the loan fund.

This is something which Trevecca deeply appreciates. It will not only be a lasting reminder of Dale, but will be of untold value to future students and will aid in the accreditation program in which we are engaged.

A small amount of interest will be charged on each loan and the money which accumulates will be used for scholarships. These scholarships will probably not exceed $30.00 per quarter, but will be of value to worthy students.

Fire Prevention Is Student Council Project

Fire prevention on the campus has been chosen as this year's project for the Student Council. Under the direction of the Student Council Project Committee, headed by Wesley Eby, the main objectives have been lined up: to install a fire alarm system in each building, have practice fire drills, and stimulate interest among the student to help in fire prevention.

The project committee composed of Wesley Eby, chairman, Ruth Johnson, Janey Little, Jim Matthews, and Miss Person, sponsor, has met several times recently to compile ideas and make plans to put the project into operation. Bill Jernigan, Student Body "Prexy," has been the guiding light in making the plans and spurring the committee into immediate action. Plans for the near future including the fire alarm system are: improving and adding to the fire escapes, having practice fire drills in evacuation of chapel, dorms, and classes, and establishing a patrol of fire wardens whose duties would be to inspect the campus for fire hazards and to sound the alarm system. Another duty of this committee is also to draw up a list of approved projects for the classes and clubs for the school year. This has been accomplished and a tentative list has been sent to the Administration for approval.

Science Club Begins Work

The Science Club began its year's activities with a get-together in the biology lab, October 25.

Ruth Johnson, president, presided at the short business meeting held by the fifteen members.

Mrs. Redford showed some slides of previous Science Club trips.

Refreshments — sherbet punch and cookies were served.

These decals will aid in solving the parking problems on our campus and will give room for our visitors to park their cars.

Founder's Day Program Features Trevecca's Past, Present, Future

Exciting imaginary pictures of Trevecca's past and future flashed into the minds of students and visitors who attended Founder's Day Service at 10:30 a.m., November 13 in Trevecca Nazarene College Chapel.

Two former Trevecca songs were sung by special musical group. Included in the program of music was the A Cappella Choir's presentation of our Alma Mater, "Faith of our Fathers" and "Higher Ground."

The past came alive as Mr. John T. Benson of the Benson Publishing Company covered the early days of Trevecca, beginning in 1901. The intermediary years of the college's history are not soon to be forgotten for a vivid picture of its many crucial experiences was given by Professor M. E. Redford. Bringing history up-to-date and predicting tomorrow, President A. B. Mackey gave the present status of Trevecca.

Programs for a permanent reminder of the service were given out as students and visitors filed into the chapel.

President Has Varied Speaking Engagements

Dr. Mackey has traveled extensively of late to fill speaking engagements in Kentucky and Alabama and in various clubs and conventions in the city.

The debt-raising campaign was the subject of visits to Jasper and Florence, Alabama.

He gave the dedicatory sermon at the new church in Ravenna, Kentucky.

President Mackey was the special speaker for the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Conference held at Hillsboro High School here in Nashville November 9. Other speeches include one to the Men's Club at the Glen Leven Presbyterian Church in the city.

Speech Club To Continue Centerville Broadcast

The Speech Club will continue its weekly radio broadcast over Station WHLP in Centerville. This program of an inspirational nature is played at 10:45 each Sunday morning.

Transcription of the tape-recorded programs is under the supervision of Miss Cooner, sponsor, and Jan Penix. Music, poems, dramatic skits and Scripture reading fill these donated minutes with the gospel message.

The Speech Club, winner of the Club of the Year award in 1956, has already begun several additional projects including debate teams and plans for the Christmas production in cooperation with the Music Club.

Sophomores Present Film

"Martin Luther" was the film presentation by the Sophomore class in the Fine Arts Auditorium on Friday, November 2.

The dramatization of the life of the great reformer made the many who attended appreciate the stand he took to bring about the Reformation.

Grade School Has Open House

Mrs. M. E. Spruill, principal of the Trevecca Elementary School, held open house October 30 in the classroom for grades 1-5.

Drawings and specimens of the work of the students were on display. The P.T.A. discussed some ways of improving the classroom.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Spruill to nine P.T.A. members and four practice teachers.

Nashville Symphony Attracts Treveccans

Professor Unruh and Miss McClain accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Harold Murray, Erlene Shuttlesworth, Burma Jean DuBose, Ed Irwin, Anita Liles, Frances Howick, Lee Eby, Carol Asbury, Dorothy Story and others to the opening of the element season of the Nashville Symphony Concert Series October 30, at the War Memorial Auditorium.

The guest of the evening was Carlos Salzedo, world renowned harpist and teacher. Mr. Salzedo was unusually adept at the harp and provided an interesting program for the audience of approximately one thousand music lovers.

The program was divided into two parts—the first a replaying of some of the numbers included in the first concert of the Nashville Symphony Orchestra ten years ago.

The general consensus of opinion of those who attended was that it was an evening well spent for education and enjoyment.

Contrary to the popular opinions of classical music, the program was so varied in action and music that the students were "kept on the edge of their seats" in order not to miss a single note.

Religion Dean Tours Indianapolis District

Dr. William Greathouse, Dean of Religion, made a short NYPS Tour of the Indianapolis District, ending with a Sunday afternoon service, November 4.

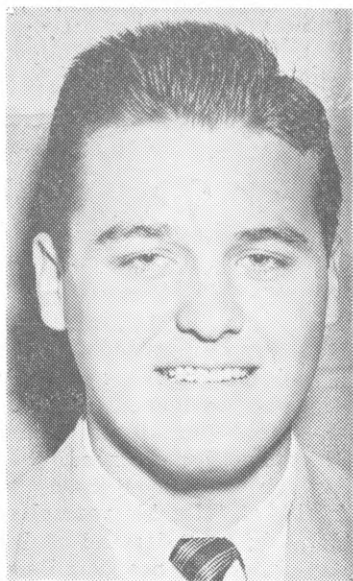

He spoke a total of nine times on seven different zones. He used some phase of Holiness, emphasizing the new theme for this Quadrennium, "We Are His Witnesses," for his messages to the Young People. There was an average of three hundred people at each rally.

Rev. Greathouse traveled in the company of Rev. Luther Cantwell, and Rev. Kenneth Jewell, District NYPS President.

"Musical Views Into Other Lands" presented by the Music Club, provided an evening of entertainment at the Friday Night's Fine Arts Program, November 9.

Vocal and instrumental numbers from many nations around the world were offered. Representing France were Larry Finger and Barbara Martin. Bill Kerns and Rose Merchant contributed musical views from Spain. Holland was represented by Nancy Thorpe, Charles Cork, and Emily Hamilton; the Orient by James Ralph, Jay Mick, and Gloria Hollis; Ireland by Rex Houston and Mary Evelyn Nelson and Russia by Ed Irwin and Frances Howick. Kemp Higginbotham served as narrator for the musical travelogue.

Jack Phillips Is New Trev-Echoes Business Manager

The election of Jackson Phillips has filled a vacancy in the TREVECCAS staff left by the resignation of Lloyd Griffin. The new Business Manager has already made progress in both advertising and subscription solicitation.

The newly elected is employed by the Nashville Tennessean. Starting from the bottom step, he has already advanced to librarian. A reporter at the Tennessean said, "Jack is a swell fellow. Everyone at the Tennessean likes him. He has exceptional ability."

Before filling his present office, which eliminates the others according to our point system, he was treasurer of the Men's Athletic Association, president of the East Tennessee Club and vice president of the Literary Club. Besides these clubs he is a member of the Ministerial Association and the Christian Workers Association.

Jack hails from Chattanooga, Tennessee where he was very active in high school participating in football and many plays and clubs.

Jack's future plans are entirely in God's hands. He has received a call to the mission field and is preparing himself for this task at Trevecca. His plans are to attend the Nazarene Theological Seminary in Kansas City, Missouri.

Hardy Hall Has Annual Open House

Autumn—fallen leaves—soft music—these are the things we saw and heard Saturday night, November 10 at Hardy Hall's annual open house.

First, there was a program in the Fine Arts Building that carried out the theme "Autumn." A girls' quartet consisting of Meelan Lindsey, Pay May, Margaret Warwick, and Kathy Eanottie sang "Harvest Moon." Rose Merchant gave a reading. Then the girls had a short devotional program. A girls' trio, Kathy Lanham, Barbara Campbell, and Barbara Wilson sang "Great is thy Faithfulness."

Everyone went to Hardy Hall to see the girls' rooms, the reception room and the head resident's apartment. Of interest were the new pictures and furniture in the reception room. Soft music was played and the room was decorated with harvest colors.

To climax the evening everyone went to the college cafeteria where harvest punch, nuts, mints, and cookies were served.

Thou Art God

Thou the God who made the winds sweep through the lofty trees—
Across the verdant fields of earth, It sings with majestic ease.
Thou the God who made the rainbow, the floods, the April showers
Fall to the earth, a refreshing drim, to quench the thirst of flowers,
Thou, who made the burning sun to filter out the shadows
Also made the stars above like daisies in a meadow—
Roses, kissed by the morning dew, like jeweled dewdrops arrayed,
Shows the might of God's great hand, what our Creator made.
Thou, the God who turns the planets of a great Divine expanse—
Created the silver milky-way, astronomers to enhance.
Thou the God of all Creation, the omnipotent God and King,
The One to whom all praise is given, to whom the angels sing.
Took time from Thy creating of worlds and seas and skies,
To cheer a heart of sadness, or to save and sanctify.

—Mildred Augusta Pearson

Prayer Is Important

Prayer is one of the most important items in living a Christian life. In this age of speed, there is a tendency to put praying aside to a more convenient time. It is a duty which commends itself to every man's conscience: a duty that admits of no substitute.

What is prayer? It is not a mere speech, not a language address of the lips, but an immediate address to the Deity. It is speaking unto God—laying open all our desires and wants unto Him, and asking the blessings that we need.

Our spirit of prayer should be genuine humility, godly sincerity, and faith of. "Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord." (James 4:10). Ask; don't demand of God. Sincerity is to be in reality that we are in appearance. The Being to whom we pray is not capable of being deceived. "When God measures men He puts the tape around the heart, not the head." Our success in prayer depends mainly on the confidence which we have in Him to whom we present our petitions.

Remember! He who has no time to pray has no time to be a Christian; for Christ spent whole nights in prayer, and He has left us an example that we should tread in His steps.

Second-Coming Prophecy Includes Israel

How does the present world condition affect us as Christians? The tense situation in the Middle East has caused much concern among people around the world. To Christians it has a much greater significance. The nation of Israel is related to Biblical prophecy and any action concerning it should be viewed with great care in the light of the Holy Scriptures for further prophetic fulfillment.

There is not much we can do as individuals to arrest the strife in that remote section of the world except through fervant prayer. But we can be sure our heart is free of sin in any of its forms, because if this crisis does have prophetic meanings then the second coming of our Lord and Saviour is not far off. We must be ready to leave in a split second if He should appear in the heavens and call for His bride to meet Him in the air.

"I Love My Church"

One loves something that changes his life for the better. That is just what the Church of the Nazarene did for me. I've been a member of it for approximately five years. I am deeply appreciative of the stand it takes in a world of sinfulness and chaos.

One reason I love my church is that it was at her altars I was saved and later sanctified. I've always found her altars open for any need; for this I am very thankful. I love my church because it is a Holiness Church. Its doctrine is sound and Scriptural. It is noted for its glorious doctrine of entire sanctification, a Biblical teaching.

It is a church in which I found 'such hallowed fellowship.' The privilege of fellowshiping with the people called Nazarenes is one I happily appreciate. In their Christian fellowship I have found encouragement in times of discouragement; happiness in times of sorrow; and gladness in times of sadness. The Church of the Nazarene with the godly care of the pastor and other sources of inspiration and help, has served as a place for my growing in grace and in the knowledge of my Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

I love my church and appreciate it for high Christian standards. Keeping its standards makes us that "peculiar people" we are to be in a sinful world.

As a member I want to be a worker and not a shirker; a booster and not a coaster; a help and not a hindrance; a stepping stone and not a stumbling block; a lover of holiness and not of worldliness. I thank God for the great Church of the Nazarene.

—Donnie Smith

No Place for Slip-Shod Christians

When Christ came to earth in the form of a child—born of the virgin Mary—He did not come undecided, unprepared, indifferent or nonchalant to His task. The mission of Calvary, His persecution, His agony, His death, His resurrection were in accord with Heaven's divine plan of redemption for sinful man. The Plan of Salvation was not just a happen-so; nor did Christ come to earth for any other reason. Lovingly He came, His purpose fully realized, and drank the whole cup that we might not taste death, but through His blood, drink of the Water of Life freely.

What does this mean to you? It should mean everything. Is your life a mission for God? Do you have a purpose for it? Are you living so close to God that you can hear His slightest whisper? Is your life an example of holy living and Christlike practices? There is no place in Christ's Kingdom for the slip-shod Christian. There is no place for the person who has no plan or purpose for his life; nor the person whose character is questionable. But there are innumerable places for the competent, consecrated Christian. Vacancies are everywhere—and need to be filled by persons who have a daily, unfaltering, walk with God.

Dr. Charles Strickland Is Chapel Speaker

Full consecration of a number of hearts and lives was the result of our chapel service Monday, October 29. Our hearts were blessed and many students received definite spiritual help as Dr. Charles Strickland spoke on "Our God-Given Talents."

Rev. Strickland gave the student council lectures last spring just after his return from the mission field where God has greatly blessed his work. Since then he has been traveling over the southeastern zone in deputa-tion work and now is preparing to return to his duties in Africa.

As he goes back our hearts are grateful for the blessings that have been ours. Let us all pray that the hand of God will be upon him, that the doors may be opened as he continues to carry the gospel message to the people of Africa.

A Student Views His Church Home

First Church of the Nazarene is known over the Southland as a "Friendly Church with a Place to Serve." I have attended First Church for the past three years and have found this slogan to be a reality.

When I worship at First Church, I can always sense the presence of the Holy Spirit. The uplifting and inspiring messages of Dr. Cecil Ewell, pastor, are always a blessing to me. Most of all, God meets with his people.

The N.Y.P.S., under the direction of Herbert Brown, has meant a great deal to me. Having no class distinction, every young person is urged to take an active part in the services.

The expression of my heart is always the same after attending a service at First Church: "Truly it was good to have been in the house of God."

—Larry Finger

Don't Step on Me

I'm awful new around this place
And green as you can see
And I guess that's the reason why
Some folks step on me.

I ain't got no larnin'
And I don't claim no brains
But sunshine makes me grow and grow

After April's rains.
But I guess folks don't realize
When they are in a frantic dither

And cut across my carpet face
They're causing me to wither.
And so I come to make a plea
On your way to class

Watch your step and use the walks
Don't step on the grass.

This humorous little poem by Rose Merchant deals with a subject that is serious. Now that winter's here we need to do our best to preserve the lovely lawns on our campus.

Students Forecast Election Correctly

Like the student body of T. N.C. in a recent poll, the American citizens decided to keep Dwight David Eisenhower at the helm of the Union when they voted on November 6.

The world situation at the time of election had some bearing on his re-election. The attitude of most of the people was that it was not wise to change leaders in the midst of the dire situations that confront the people of America and the whole world at this time.

This makes the second term for Eisenhower and Nixon. This team has proved to be a fighting team for the American people these past four years. Much progress has been made under its administration.

Mr. Eisenhower will be inaugurated on January 3, 1957. Let us all pray for the President and his administration as he takes the oath for his new term that he will keep America free of the evils that have overtaken the other nations of the world.

As for you and me, American citizens, let us do our best to stand behind this administration in its efforts to make America a better place in which to live.

Library Adds New Books

In our Trevecca library there are 16,600 volumes, enough to allow each of us at least 301 books, and 35 hours reading a day. Of course, there are not that many hours in a day but at least there are enough books for all of us.

Within the last year there have been quite a number of new books purchased for our library. Those students interested in music will enjoy the new books purchased for that department. Within these halls of music is a complete set of Groves' Dictionary of Music.

For Dr. Adams' history courses, new books were purchased and are now on the shelves.

In order for English students to have well-rounded concepts in their field, reading other than textbook is required. Why not take advantage of the new books in that department, and thus improve your knowledge of English?

Speech is an everyday item in our lives, so try using the new speech books that are now on reserve. They will help you in preparation for class assignments, as well as occasions outside of class.

Want to be an all-around good student? Then take advantage of the new books in these various fields.

Skimp Sketch

How many times have you made a special effort to pattern some of the fine qualities of others? In most cases, it proves to be a blessing to the individual who succeeds in doing this. Maybe it would help us to look at a sketch of the life of one of our students who is respected and admired by all of us.

Larry Leeper, a native Tennessee from Knoxville, is now entering his sophomore year at Trevecca. After three and one half years of service in the navy, he came to school to continue his education for the ministry. Larry began as a Junior Theological student, but decided it wiser to get a four-year college education, majoring in religion.

Larry maintains a deep spiritual life, giving us a true example of the sanctified life. There is never so much as a look of criticism on his countenance, but he is always ready to give a cheery smile or word of encouragement. He is quiet, but not unassuming, for he takes an active part in church and school activities. His well-rounded life includes a love for hunting and fishing as well as playing football and softball.

In the future, Larry plans to attend our Seminary and then go into the pastorate. May God's richest blessings continue with him always.

Are You a Good Member?

A good member attends called meetings, pays his dues, and gives willingly and gladly of his help and assistance to make his class or club the outstanding one of the year.

Beginning college brings exciting situations and experiences. We begin the year with a goal to make this year the best we have had. We attend the meetings of our classes and clubs. We want ours to be the "Class or Club of the Year." When the meetings are called we make certain that we attend because we want to be "Boosters" and not "Roosters."

We have found that the excitement of the beginning of school wears off, and we sometimes begin to lag and stop attending our meetings. We hope that will not be true this year.

After the officers are elected we begin the business of the classes and clubs. The main item is the amount of dues to be paid. One boy said, "My conscience would hurt me if I did not pay my dues. They are something that I, along with my classmates agreed to pay. I must keep my vow."

When the president asks for our assistance, let's help with a willing heart. The officers cannot do all the work of our class or club alone. Let's be good members!

Letters to the Editor

This is your column. It will be what you make it. Through this column you may submit your opinions. You may have your say.

This is one of the most advantageous aspects that a college newspaper offers its readers.

Too often this liberty is unconsidered when a group or individual wishes to present problems that lie within the radius of the campus influence.

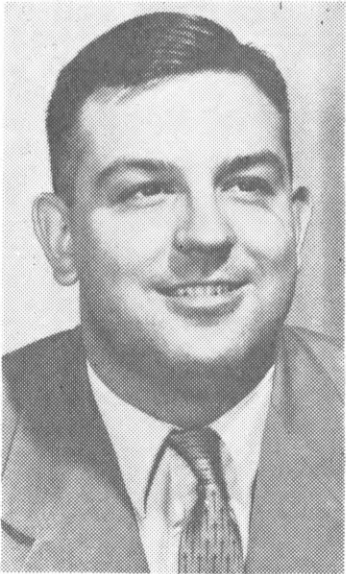

A panel will reserve the right to edit all items—without changing the intent or the purpose of the writer. All letters should be signed by the formulator. In case you desire to remain anonymous in print, a statement to the editor will guarantee anonymity.

This is your liberty, use it.

Silence ye who enter here; this is none other than the House of God.

Every day we have the privilege of a time of worship and communion with God. This is an oasis in the desert of numerous daily tasks.

To gain the greatest value from our services, let us make our attitude one of prayerful reverence when we enter the doors of our chapel.

James W. Carty, Jr.

Tennessean Editor Discusses Journalism in East Africa

"Journalism in Africa" was the theme of James W. Carty, Jr., religious news editor of the Nashville Tennessean, speaking to the Journalism class and others November 2. Approximately seventy-five attended his lecture which was centered around a recent trip to East Africa on a literary assignment. He told the class that the written word is a big factor in teaching the Word of God to the people of Africa, and in raising their living standards. Mr. Carty said that the printed word faces many handicaps in Africa since many of the people are illiterate, but many advances have been made and the Africans have the greatest opportunity ever to receive an education. The newspapers of Africa will play an important role in this undertaking.

Mr. Carty has been on the staff of the Tennessean since 1953. He is noted as one of the better religious journalists in the South. In February, 1956, Mr. Carty received one of the nation's highest religious reporting awards. In April, 1956, he received a national award for his complete coverage on religious news and his contribution in raising the prestige of the job of religious news editor.

He is an ordained minister in the Christian Church, and was the first in this country to be ordained as minister of journalism. He has served in many positions, as chaplain, pastor, and on several newspapers.

Mr. Carty teaches journalism at Scarritt College, and lives here in Nashville with his wife and his three children: Cindy, 5; James, Jr., 2; and Paul, 1.

After you tell others good night, pray and ask God to give you a good night.

Missionary Board Approves V. Benedict

At the 1956 General Assembly of the Church of the Nazarene, the Foreign Missionary Board approved Miss Virginia Benedict to serve as a foreign missionary nurse.

Coming from Hastings, Michigan, Miss Benedict completed her freshman year and part of her sophomore year in Olivet Nazarene College. There she chose biological science as a major and chemistry as a minor. She then came to Nashville where she began her nursing career at Nashville General Hospital. Since September, 1953, she has made her home with Rev. and Mrs. M. E. Redford.

Miss Benedict had planned in her earlier school years to be a taxidermist and had studied to that effect, but the hand of Providence was upon her, and she chose nursing as a career.

When asked why she chose this profession, she replied, "While I was working as a taxidermist, I became ill, and the doctor told me I could not go back to work. So I got a job as a nurse's aid. Then I wasn't very pleased because I couldn't do everything the nurses did; so I decided to go in training." So the Lord looked into the future, and now Miss Benedict has accepted God's plan for her life.

I am sure we will all pray for "our school nurse" as she passes another milestone of faith, and goes into this great work.

What's in a Nickname?

It would certainly be interesting to know the background of the nicknames that tag many of our students.

"George"—that's Mildred Pearson's nickname. Now how did she derive such a name from Mildred? "Scotty"—A very fitting name for Martha Blackwell; it is the result of a visit from a young service man a few weeks ago.

"Pud"—Could it be that this nickname is short for "Puddin"? Maybe Melton does think Emma Jean Smith is "sweet as puddin'."

"Higgie" is a wonderful accomplishment. What a time-saver! In these busy days, who has time to say Higginbotham?

"Ace"—that's laziness gone to seed when people shorten two-syllable words to one.

"Leecie"—An affectionate name—wonder what's the origin?

"Tootsie"—That's really reading between the letters; how else could you get such a name from Patsy Jones?

To show how lazy human beings are, take a look at this: "Dot"—Dorothy Story; "Nette"—Jeanette Ring; "Berta"—Roberta Stogner; "Peggy"—Margaret Ann Craft; "Rig"—Wayne Goodwin; "Jo"—Mary Jo Bowling.

"Call Mr. Martin"

"My heater is broken and I'm freezing!" "Call Mr. Martin. He'll be over and have it fixed in no time." This indicates the confidence that Trevecca students have in the general maintenance supervisor of our campus.

Mr. David Martin is called upon to replace broken window panes, repair electric heaters, install plumbing, and any number of necessary assignments on Trevecca Campus.

Our maintenance supervisor is an alumnus of Trevecca. He came to Trevecca in 1949, entering the Junior Theological Department. After his first year he entered the college. Since his graduation in 1956, he has worked full time to keep our campus in peak condition.

Mr. Martin has several men to instruct and supervise. All those who work for him appreciate his wonderful spirit.

"These Have Been Wonderful Years," Says Professor Howick

Professor Howick, Trevecca's own "foreign" faculty member, came to Trevecca in 1949 from Canada where he had been teaching in Canadian Nazarene College.

He was born in Canada "a number of years ago" to loyal British subjects, who following Divine leadings, moved to Canada. Both mother and father are ministers and he states that "there has been an unbroken line of holiness ministry in the family as far back as can be traced."

Professor Howick says that he settled major problems at a very early age and knew from the beginning that his task was to teach. It was this conviction that led him to leave home in 1941, travel 2,500 miles, and enroll as a student in Canadian Nazarene College. After completing high school and earning the Bachelor of Theology degree, he taught there for two years before coming to the United States.

Since joining the faculty of Trevecca, Professor Howick has taught in a number of fields including music, philosophy, religion, education and psychology. At the present time he is teaching most of the courses in the department of education and psychology, directing the activities of the student-teacher program and operating a testing bureau and vocational counselling office.

Library Adds Socrates Records

Socrates Trial, a "talking" record album, has been donated to the library by the Humanities Class.

These records from the works of Plato give Socrates' Apology, Phaedo, and Crito, or in our vernacular, his defense and death.

This welcome addition to the record department of the library will be on reserve for use of the classes as they need them.

As Jim Morris came into economics class, he slipped on a piece of paper. Dr. Mackey said in his casual way, "We didn't mean for you to slip in on us today."

Prof. Wm. H. Howick

"These have been wonderful years at Trevecca College," states Professor Howick. "I never expect to find a finer group of consecrated men and women anywhere in the world." Surely this was said in sincerity for fourteen months ago he chose one of his students, the former Miss Frances Tucker of Charlotte, North Carolina, to be his wife.

Professor Howick holds the Bachelor of Arts degree from Trevecca, and the Master of Arts and Master of Education degrees from Peabody. One more full year of work including examinations and dissertation would probably bring him his Doctor of Philosophy degree. At the present time he is attending the University of Tennessee where he is taking further work in literature, endeavoring to quench (at least in part) his ever-present thirst for knowledge.

Dr. Adams, dean of the college, says, "It does my heart good to see students almost run to the library in order to get a seat." Students at Trevecca College are more eager than ever before to learn, or so it appears when extra chairs were moved into the reading room to accommodate the crowd that make its way to the library to study at 7:00 p.m.

Joyce Moore, college sophomore, left October 19 for Staunton, Virginia. She is being sent home by her doctor, because of illness. Let us pray for her.

Prayer is a rain maker that causes showers of blessings.

Here and There

Have we reverted to the gay nineties?

Gloria McKinnon was recently seen in the T-room in this fashion—complete with furs, and even carrying a poodle dog.

How about that, Eddie?

The police were after James Tripp! No, he didn't get caught breaking a law. But he did see an accident and James, Ralph White and Jerry Hughes were wanted as witnesses.

Shirley Bula says that Andrew Carnegie was the great steel "typhoon."

A panel discussion on current world affairs held the interest of faculty members at a recent In-Service Training program at Faculty Meeting.

Mrs. Mackey, Dr. Adams, Mr. Childers, Mr. Phillips, and Mr. Redford formed the panel since their fields include the social sciences.

Bob Furniss has been placed in charge of the school's visual aids equipment. He will keep projectors in top running order.

New England Leader Challenges Students

Rev. J. C. Albright, district superintendent of the New England District, was the chapel speaker November 6. His message was taken from Matthew 7, on the subject "Building Holy Character." His challenge to each young person was "Choose Jesus for your own Master Architect; lay a good foundation with two definite works of grace and look to God for promised strength."

Rev. Albright brought greetings from Eastern Nazarene college of which he is a trustee.

He was in Nashville to conduct revival services at Grace Church of Nazarene with Rev. Ralph Schurman, pastor.

Helen Shadowens, was a weekend visitor of her sister, Zella. She returned to Dayton, Ohio, October 28.

Ever heard of a hairspring mattress? You haven't? Neither had Leona Groves until Betty got lodged under the bed and her hair got twisted around a spring. Some of the girls pulled her out, hair and all! The hair remains as a memory of the event.
